Lair of the Tzimisce flesh-shapers, a huge labyrinth made of bones, muscles, skin and living parts hiding under the Carpathian Mountains in Transylvania, Romania.

Stones of Perkunas

Ritual pagan stone circle in Dainava Forest, Lithuania, devoted to the Baltic god of thunder, Perkunas. The circle is a ritual meeting node of Tzimisce Kolduns.

Basilica of Darkness

Huge palace, unholy church and art collection of all dark, shadowy and mystical in Madrid, Spain, the meeting place of the Lasombra council, the Friends of Darkness.

Castle of Shadows

Medieval fortress made of black stones in the shores of Sicily, once home of the Lasombra ancients, now the citadel of the Sabbath Lasombra leaders.

Altar of Blood

Underground complex of chapels, Chantries and libraries in Mexico City, heart of the dark magic of the Sabbath and alleged lair of the traitor Tremeres.

Fortress of Ice

An arctic military complex and secret operation base in Bergen, Norway, base of operations of the Sabbath Inquisition and its Grand Master, hiding horrible secrets.

The Oak

Thousand years old, huge, mystical oak tree in Väterbotten, Sweden, central temple of the Valkyries, alleged resting place of Brynhildr and Odin, the Nordic Gangrel Ancients.

The Mausoleum

Family seat and headquarters of the Giovannis in Venice, Italy, a horrific fortified palace-complex and labyrinth of underground catacombs guarded by Wraiths.

Alamut

Hiding in the mountains of Qazvin Province of Iran, the ancient eyrie of the Assamites built by limestone and blood, on the top of inaccessible mountain paths.

Red Temple

One of the main temples of the Setites, hiding under the sand in Thebes, Egypt, this huge complex is devoted to the Jackal God and housing a Hierophant and several Elders.

Crimson Carnival

Bloody spectacles and dark, painful pleasures mixed with music, dance and celebrative art, night after night running in the streets of the Sabbath ruled Rio de Janeiro.

City of Black Miracles

Heart of the Sabbath in Canada, the glooming danger hanging above Chicago, New York and Boston, seat of a Cardinal and location of one of the biggest Cainite libraries.

Lake of Tears

The constantly shrinking Aral Lake at the border of Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan in Central Asia, allegedly connected to the Sword of Attila and his wayward son, Irnik.

Ebon Jungle

Dark jungle, toxic plants, ghouléed leopards and snakes, colourful birds and teeming insects, the Lomami Park in Congo is the ancient home of many Laibon tribes and their militias.

Temple of Wonders

Patchwork of small houses and tight streets around an ancient Hindu temple in Mumbai, India, home of dreams, nightmares and many Ravnos elders, constantly tricking reality.

Golden Court

Mystical and exotic, the Land of Jade is a place for no Kindred, and the Golden Court in Nanjing, China, is one of the many palaces of the Kathay Mandarins.

Cult of Midnight

One of the many hundred cults in New York City, USA, this Sabbath-led cult seeks methods to hurry the end of the world, the Gehenna; and for this, they shed blood and pull strings.

Anarch Free State

An experiment of the Anarchs, mainly Brujahs, led by Jeremy McNeil, Los Angeles is torn apart by Kathays, Camarilla, Sabbath, and Anarch civil wars night by night.

Tomb of Dreams

Under Jerusalem, Israel, hides the Tomb of Dreams, a huge complex of graves and old stone tablets containing Malkavian Elders and countless apocryphal prophecies.

Pit of Mist

In the middle of the Gibson Desert in Australia, a huge pit yawns, spewing smoke and mist all day and night, and at the bottom, a horrible ancient being is awakening, hungry for blood.

Cave of Nightmares

A damp, cold mountain cave between the high peaks of the Andes in Chile, burial place of a long forgotten Inca god who twists minds and devours souls.
